Cancellation Policy:

If the tour is cancelled before the final payment date due to insufficient uptake, we will refund your deposit in full. In the unlikely event of it being cancelled after the final payment date, you will still receive a refund, although we cannot specify the precise amount at this stage as our Chinese tour operator cannot provide a firm refund policy, either as a fixed sum or as a percentage, since much will depend on how much they can claw back from the hoteliers and airlines. We will nevertheless do our utmost to minimise your losses, but you are strongly advised to take out a travel insurance policy so that you can claim against this for any losses incurred.

If you require extras (including special requirements, additional nights in Kunming and extra domestic flights) please let us know.
